

Project Timothy: Discipleship of the Mind

Spring 2010

Be transformed by the renewing of your minds, so that you may discern the will of God. Romans 12:2

Project Timothy (PT) is a 'discipleship of the mind' program to study the entire Bible in conjunction with extra-biblical sources, academic tools for biblical research, excursions and guest lectures. The curriculum is designed by Rev Dr Ron Choong, a philosophical theologian of science. PT takes its participants through the entire Bible over a period of three years.

Participants sign up for semesters of 5 monthly sessions. PT seeks to transform your mind through a program of reading and meditation to become disciples of Jesus Christ. We provide a theological safe space (tss) to question assumptions about the Scriptures. This strengthens our beliefs and equips us to responsibly proclaim the gospel. A deep understanding of the Bible calls for a broad-based program of study involving history, literary criticism, philosophy, comparative religions, science, and both biblical and systematic theology. You will be introduced to key topics in all of these areas.

The prophetic books in the OT will be studied according to their dates of their final forms of writing, from Amos to Daniel. The NT will follow the chronology according to when each letter was written, from James to Revelation. This is to experience how the early Christians came to know the NT, not as a complete book, but as they came to be written. We will trace the theologies of James, Paul, Peter and the gospel writers to better understand how certain concepts developed.
